Allies Draw Blank in First Bid To Woo Korean POWs to Return

PANMUNJOM, Korea, Dec. 2 (AP)—The first attempt by United Nations military officials to win South Korean prisoners of the reds over to democracy.

Thirty men and women came, wearing red dog tags and carrying their own weapons. They listened to the anti-communist propaganda and then they went back to their quarters, singing their songs and dancing.

The unanimous refusal of the prisoners to return home gave the communists a propaganda victory they were sure to exploit in broadcasts from communist Pyongyang and Peking radio.

They also were expected to use the example of the 500 Koreans in an attempt to influence the 12 American and one British POWs to remain in communist hands.

The explanation sessions were held in the morning and afternoon. The South Koreans interviewed spoke adversely to the enemy and urged the "red" prisoners to return to their own country.

One jumped to his feet and demanded that a tape recording be made of his statement. He carried the voice of a civilian woman prisoner, her husband and two children who asked "repetition" last month.

These Atrocities on U.N. Agenda

Many of the prisoners chairmaned and hanged as they listened to patient explanations of the Korean and South Korean patriotic songs.

Three of those interviewed today were women, one an attractive young girl in pig tails and a beaver, padded uniform.

South Korean explanation teams, carefully schooled for their role, did not plead, intimidate or attempt to argue with their former comrades. They rather displayed an effort to demonstrate to the prisoners that South Korea did not wish their assistance if they had become firmly convinced of communist doctrine.

Obviously all had.

Ike Adds to Dulles Blast For Senator

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—President Eisenhower, backing up Secretary of State Dulles' blast at Senator McCarthy, R., Wis., declared today that unity among free nations "is our only hope for survival."

Ike Dulles, Eisenhower did not mention McCarthy by name. But the President told a news conference he is "in full accord with the statements made yesterday by Secretary Dulles."

Witness Cites 3 Dams Favor By Engineers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—A witness at the Hells Canyon hearing today testified that the dam project probably would have recommended construction of three dams in the Snake river valley instead of one, they had made a thorough investigation.

Dr. Louis E. DeLoach, an engineering consultant, said that army engineers at the Hells Canyon dam project had recommended a proposal for a federal dam only a preliminary investigation.

DeLoach said this testimony was given in an examination at power plant hearings on the Hells Canyon dam project. He said the dam project would be a three-dam plan.

Response Not Good in State Water Appeal

BOISE, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Idaho water resources advisory committee today said it had received a poor response to its questionnaire asking for recommendations for water projects in the state.

Chairman L. J. Peterson said today.

Most of the replies have come from municipalities and have over-estimated the need for water projects, agencies questioned, including wildlife groups, industries, chambers of commerce and local public health groups, he explained.

Peterson urged persons receiving the questionnaire to return them to the committee before the annual meeting so results may be summarized.

Reds in Korea Failed to Return 8,608 U.S. POWs, General Says

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway charged today that the communists in Korea failed to return 8,608 American prisoners known to have been victims of red atrocities.

The army chief of staff told a senate investigating subcommittee that defense department figures show 13,239 soldiers, sailors, airmen and marines were subjected to "barbaric" treatment.

Ridgway was first witness in a three-day series of hearings that will include Q & A sessions and "staring" at the camera.

Winter Tries New Start in Magic Valley

Winter tried again Wednesday morning to place Magic Valley in its grip but did not succeed very well. A very fine, light snow fell in most places in the valley, but it was as light as a feather and was blown away by a strong wind.

Haley reported no snow but the wind was blowing in the air. The low during the night was 23 degrees. Snow it was up to 20 degrees.

Patricia had a light snow that failed to leave a marked impression on the ground. She said that which did fall did not melt.

Clerk's Facts May Uncover Another Ring

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—Chairman J. Edgar Hoover today said one reason the senate internal security subcommittee wants to question the Hells Canyon dam project is to find out whether he has information that might uncover a new spy ring in government.

The subcommittee deferred until later in the day a decision on what to do with the dam project. The Hells Canyon dam project is a three-dam plan in the Snake river valley.

Grateful Rhee Accepts Offer Of Pusan Aid

PUSAN, Korea, Dec. 2 (AP)—President Rhee gratefully accepted today offers of American aid in relieving the suffering of 30,000 people made homeless by the worst fire in Korean history.

Rhee toured the fire-ravaged heart of Pusan with the U. S. far east commander, Gen. John E. Ball.

In an address to refugees huddled in two great U. S. army warehouses on the waterfront, Rhee thanked the people for their "careless" in permitting the Friday night fire to sweep through two square miles.

Taylor and Brig. Gen. Richard S. Whitcomb, whose Korean base headquarters was destroyed in the fire, outlined a program of relief and reconstruction under which the U. S. army would accept a major burden of restoring the city.

Full made a one-day air trip to the devastated city from his Tokyo headquarters. He instructed his commanders to concentrate upon the "humanitarian job of relief of suffering."

MORE THAN ONE ISSUE

In all the furor over spy charges and the like, the Republicans may be well advised not to overlook the fact that voters might have some other things on their minds when they go to the polls in 1954.

At few times in recent history has a party been confronted with so many difficult hurdles to get over before it can run for the stretch in November. The Eisenhower administration either deliberately postponed or was compelled to postpone action on many important measures this year.

If it does not act upon all or nearly all of these in 1954, it will not have the positive record of accomplishment its own leaders declare. It is essential to success at the polls. For inaction would mean failure to make good on key campaign promises.

In such a situation, the historical record gives little encouragement to those who may think voter attention can be diverted to the misuses of former opposition regimes, even when they may involve possible lack of vigilance on a matter like internal communism.

For example, in 1948, when former President Truman was running against Governor Dewey, the headlines were full of charges against Miss Elizabeth Bentley and Whitaker Chambers against Alger Hiss, Harry Dexter White and many others whose names are now popping back into the news.

The issue is not, Mr. Truman called it a "red herring" and that, too, made a lot of people angry. The Republicans really thought they had something.

But when the votes were counted, it was Mr. Truman who had something—the White House—by 2,000,000 votes. And the Republicans had been tossed out of control of congress.

Subsequent inquiries by stunned politicians and baffled reporters indicated the people had their minds on matters other than just communism in government, although they did not necessarily treat that lightly. They were worried over the general absence of solid material in the whole Dewey-Bentley-Chambers-Hiss case.

Four years later, the voters seemed to take charges of communism in government more seriously, but most careful observers found it was but one of several major issues that helped turn the tide toward the Republicans.

That perhaps is the lesson. Elections are decided on a single issue. They usually hinge on four or five. At any given time, communism may or may not be one. In any event, it is unlikely to be the whole show, and the GOP ought to be alert to recent history in evidence on this point.

Ahead of them are matters like a new farm policy, foreign trade, tax cuts, budget balancing, spending, and what not. Any one of them—neglected—might prove dynamic.

NEHRU'S VAGUE REMARK

Prime Minister Nehru of India says that if no Korean political conference is held, the whole subject of prisoner repatriation should be referred back to the communist and United Nations high commissions.

This is a very puzzling attitude. It almost suggests that Nehru has forgotten the terms of the truce, which are explicit on this point. Here is what the agreement was on the prisoner issue:

It is to be held a 90-day period during which the home land authorities could try to persuade reluctant prisoners to come home.

It is decreed that, thereafter, a political conference could consider their fate for a period of 30 days.

But at the end of 120 days, unless such a conference should have made any other disposition of their case, the prisoners who still refuse repatriation must be released to civilian status and allowed to go free.

In other words, the neutral nations repatriation commission, headed by India, is not empowered to keep these prisoners any longer in custody, nor to refer their future status back to the respective high commands.

The purpose of these explicit terms is plain. The U. N. negotiators wished to make it certain the communists would not, by dragging out the prisoners' explanations or a political conference, insure the indefinite captivity of men who have shown beyond all reasonable doubt their desire for freedom.

The 90-day deadline, incidentally, is Dec. 23. Thirty days from that date all unrepat- riated prisoners in allied hands must be assured of their right to walk out of the prisoner stockades.

What aim Nehru had in proposing that this specific machinery for prisoner processing be set aside is difficult to fathom.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—Ever since Rep. Martin Dies of Texas began his investigation of American communists about 20 years ago, and especially since the Harry Truman-Harry White-Harry Vaughan climax of the last few weeks, the question has been asked: What is it that Americans with fine education, social background, good homes and families, and good jobs and prospects should be doing in a country which gave them these riches, these opportunities, the freedom to talk, to worship, to vote, to work and to live as they pleased? That is the 64 question.

AN UNANSWERED QUESTION

Although no Eisenhower, no Truman, no Brownell, no McCarthy and no congressional committee has tried to answer this question, it is the basic problem behind the current controversy. It is fundamental to our way of life and living.

Either we are a failure or they are. Which? Unanswered, the verdict may be against us. So, this column might be entitled a psychiatric study of the nation's present communitarian and their collaborators within the government.

Unfortunately, a close-up view of the anti-American actors in this harrowing tragedy, provide extremely comforting conclusions. A professional, psychiatric study of these politicians, persons disloyal that they were, is a somewhat reasonable cause.

They were not our kind of people!

OVEREDUCATED CASES

For one thing, they were not "well educated." They were "overeducated." As students, instructors and clamorous claimants for superior degrees, they lingered pathologically long in academic cloisters.

They could have obtained far more education in business and industry. But they were not. They were not to step out of school and go to work. That observation applies to every subversive listed in FBI files. College was their escape from bread-and-butter reality.

BACKGROUND ORATORS—Few came from good homes, solid backgrounds or constructive environment. Many came from homes broken by divorce or desertion. Many were born in poverty, in Poland, Lithuania, Czechoslovakia, where families had suffered extreme hardships, as well as social and political frustration. They were humiliated and harassed.

They had "good jobs." Most of them starved during the early days of the depression. They herded into slums and shacks during these years at an average salary of $2,000.

Harry Dexter White's salary was only $2,000. And he had a colossal mansion and a car. He was called by Prof. Jacob Viner called him and Lauchlin Currie to the treasury in 1934. They were failures in their own mind.

PSYCHOPATHIC DREAMERS—Their lack of guts, their sense of inferiority, and their cowardice were demonstrated by their rush to accept government employment, just as they had been unhappily content to be in the government. They were not the kind of fellows of fellowship grants. They embarked on a reckless, nervous, hungry voyage for security. They were not.

The depression had a devastating effect on them. It confirmed their collegiate and professional beliefs, and it confirmed their faith in the government. It confirmed Adam Smith out the campus window in favor of Karl Marx's system of a planned society.

BECAME CONVINCED—They became convinced—and, perhaps, sincerely—of the need for a reformed economy, government control of agriculture, industry and commerce, and a new social order. They were not the kind of fellows of fellowship grants. They embarked on a reckless, nervous, hungry voyage for security. They were not.

Their undoing was that they envied communist Russia as the realization of their dreams, and, although perhaps not meaning to be traitors, they sold out Uncle Sam to Joe Stalin. They were psychopaths, not heroes.

VIEWERS OF OTHERS

The death of Leo J. Greener in a truck accident near his home in the Snake River valley Saturday will come as a shock to thousands of southwestern Idaho residents who have followed the rodeo circuit annually by the Snake River Stampede association.

The genial Greener had become such a fixture with the Stampede rodeo that it is difficult to imagine that annual event without his presence.

He was a rodeo producer, of course, and contracted rodeos around the country with great success. Nampa being one of his lesser dates but one which he filled with pride that came from long association. His willingness as a producer was due entirely to his enthusiasm for rodeo. He had no need for rodeo money. His $10,000-a-year Montana rodeo, along with some 1,200 visitors, were wealth in proportions that made considerable money for income unnecessary. But Leo Greener had the rodeo game in his blood, and he followed it with enthusiasm and pride.

When our friends who direct the Snake River Stampede meet immediately to discuss the effect of Greener's death on their future plans, we would like to offer the suggestion that they give their fine rodeo arena the permanent identity of the Greener rodeo. As much as any Nampa man who has lived in the Snake River Stampede one of the best rodeos in the nation. The memory of the big Irishman should be preserved by the Stampede directors—Boise State.

"ANOTHER FINAL WAR"

On Nov. 11 South Korea's Foreign Minister Pyun Yung Tai, let the cat out of the bag. Commenting on the armistice that ended World War I, he declared that "another final war" would be a realistic thing to achieve permanent peace.

Stranger than fiction, like Chiang Kai-shek, has denied in the past that he wanted or anticipated World War II. Yet people close to both men have given evidence of a deep conviction that a general conflagration was inevitable and offers the best chance of defeating the communist regimes of North Korea and mainland China. Only in the event of another world war, such reasoning goes, could they count on the unlimited American aid in arms and manpower which they would clearly need to accomplish their ends.

Mr. Pyun Yung Tai's frank statement should be correlated with his earlier admission that, even before the Korean war began, South Korea's government launched an aggressive action against North Korea if only the United States had furnished it the requisite heavy arms and aircraft. This aggressive willingness to touch off a possible world war in the past through light on the "realism" that welcomes "another final war" as the way to future peace.—Christian Science Monitor.

STILL A FLICKER LEFT

Farmers in the Quimbo area of a west Missouri county suffered heavy losses when the Missouri river went on a rampage in 1947, and they decided it wasn't going to happen again. They decided to build a levee.

They hired an engineer and an older, borrowed a big scraper and a bulldozer and worked for two years around. The expense was split among 100 families, according to the amount of land owned. The floods two years ago this summer would have put this levee under water and destroyed the homes and farms for years.

They didn't cry for government help or subsidies. They didn't depend on the bright young bureaucrats who had ended years of red tape. It just goes to show what people can do on their own even in these desperate times if they set their minds to it.—Jerome North Side News.

POT SHOTS

FRIENDLY GESTURE

Some folks might say it was competition, while others would say only the motivation of deep friendship. The whole business was precipitated by an innovation for Major Vala-Lavation.

We can't vouch for the situation because we haven't witnessed it. But rumor has it that a certain local establishment, in which brew is the principal item of business, has acquired a television set. Naturally, the management views the gadget as an instrument for bringing an increase in business.

But one of the operators of a rival establishment got wind of the TV addition to the other brew dispensary. He carefully told several people about the presence of the TV set. In fact, he was so careful about who got the information that he was sure to keep it out of the hands of the principal item of business, he was sure to keep it out of the hands of the principal item of business, he was sure to keep it out of the hands of the principal item of business.

At last, the TV set was kept in the bar occupied with people who were not supposed to be there. The next development? Why, it should be some sort of ruling about non-buying customers!

No royalty is paid for inventing cusses, says our Sage.

ALONG ABOUT CHRISTMAS

Along about Christmas, things can be pretty rough for a fellow who is a long way from home. It's all reflected in a letter received by Mr. and Mrs. Bill McCrummond, Kimberly, from their son, Harold, who is serving in Korea.

"As I sit here in Korea all alone with only thoughts and memories of home where some day I will spend with you and reminders of things we used to do. Though I'm a soldier overseas, there are many others just like me, with folks and loved ones waiting for them, waiting for the time when God will send their boys back to their homes."

"Korea is a hell-hole land where homeless children comb the land for shelter or some food. When you see their upturned eyes it somehow sends to make you realize that you are in this foreign land to give them the strength of a helping hand."

"So, Mom and Dad, don't worry about your son; just think of all the days to come when you and I can be together and live in peace and freedom again. Until again the world is free, just keep on thinking of me."

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

NEW YORK—Official correspondence in the state department states that Sen. Carl Bricker, R-Ohio, a brother-in-law of Visceral Molotov, the Soviet communist, is a member of the House of Representatives.

David Rosen, director of American the official Russian agent, has been granted a million dollar "loan" by the United States treasury in an alleged effort to meet a deficiency.

Rosen retained his title of director of American the official Russian agent, but was put completely under Carl's orders. Carl also had his own Russian purchasing corporation in New York. He also had a habit of visiting Russia annually until the late 30's, and brought back bundles of American money, much of it in $1,000 bills.

He never has been called on to prove what he did with this money and the total amount of it hopelessly large. He was called in to give two separate examinations by the house committee on un-American activities.

The second inquiry provided him for information about the owner of a violent new deal paper in Connecticut whose financial affairs were clouded in litigation. The committee asked Carl whether he had put Russian money into this paper and it was flatly charged that it followed the communist line in some matters.

However, Carl insisted that none of the money went into this radical paper and the committee failed to subpoena his books. No inquiry was troubled the paper or its editors.

The paper was giving loud support to the late Sen. Brian McMahon, the new deal's commissar for Connecticut in those days, and to Senator Roosevelt in his forays into the CIO industrial domain in the important munitions centers of Connecticut.

Meanwhile, the "intellectual" communist infiltrated the pretty little rural New England town of New Bedford, Mass., as the Berkshire foothills. This penetration was reflected recently in today's reaction of Eleanor Roosevelt when she made a speech at Kent.

Joe Louis said Alger Hiss would have done this nation less harm if he had been allowed to continue his treacherous course than Joe Louis and David Schine wrought by their official inquiries in Europe for Senator McCarthy's families.

There are a number of rich New Yorkers in the area who are well spotted by the rest of the community.

Joe Connolly, Jr., the son of the late manager of King feature, has bought an interest in the weekly New Milford Times which serves the suburban area and, for the first time, an aggressive pro-American paper.

can paper is now carrying the fight to the Lowenthal, revealed by Jonathan Daniels as the original director of the "American" in New York. He was a member of the House of Representatives.

What prompts a rabbit to "freeze" and thereby make itself a perfect target for a hunter's rifle? Why will a striped bittern with its streaked brown and white coat be so conspicuous in a clump of bright green reeds and have found that all mammals below man, ape and monkey have great difficulty seeing shapes at great distances? Their senses or seeing objects in motion, however, is most acute, usually much superior to man's.

As for color, here, too, color blindness is general among all mammals with the exception again of man, monkey and ape.

Now before hapless man invented the gun, the rabbit and the bittern had worked out a proper reply for staying alive. By freezing, these animals were not detected by the prowling coyote and fox.

Those snappers and bitterns who practiced this art of immobility, therefore, tended to live longer and reproduce their own kind. Those who betrayed their presence by twitching were snatched up quick.

And now to the original question: receive a summons to Moscow.

He has denied with indignation that he ever was a communist or a Russian "agent" although he frankly admitted that he was commissioned to buy one or more of the colossal "atomic" bombs that he did buy military planes.

He also insisted about the purchase of a watch-factory, but with undisclosed results.

Are Classified

Seven Marie Valley herds have been classified as "dangerous" by the Idaho State Department of Agriculture.

L. J. Trenchard, Twin Falls, says the 27 inbred animals, which include 10 purebred and 17 crossbred, are as good as dead.

Red, Taylor and Sons, with 10 eligible animals, are designated as very good.

The 17 eligible animals belong to Frank W. Henson, who owns two classified very good and two classified very good.

Other survivors are a Marie Champion, and Mrs. Dorothy Stevens and Belle Waller, all Marie and another piece, Louis and Chester, Jr.

Dr. J. C. Collins represented the minister.

Decree Filed for Woman's Estate

A decree of distribution in the estate of William W. Jones, who died in Twin Falls county, was filed in district court by the widow, William W. Jones, administrator.

The estate, which grew to a value of $100,000, was divided into 10 shares, consisting of household goods valued at $500 and a house and lot in Idaho valued at $100,000.

An 80-acre tract of land in Pomeroy county, Ind., is also part of the estate, which is distributed in the decree.

Other survivors are a Marie Champion, and Mrs. Dorothy Stevens and Belle Waller, all Marie and another piece, Louis and Chester, Jr.

Probe Sparks Labor Union Revolt in S.F.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2 (AP)—A militant walkout was threatened by the home un-American committee after the labor union refused to investigate Harry Bridges' activities in the Los Angeles area.

The 11,000 members of the longshoremen's union, which is the largest in the city, have been ordered to meet at city hall where a vote will be taken on whether to join the walkout.

The union is conducting an investigation into the activities of the longshoremen's union in the Los Angeles area, and is said to be in the process of organizing a new union.

The union is said to be in the process of organizing a new union, and is said to be in the process of organizing a new union.

Courtesy Hides Signs of Spy Issues at White House Party

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark and Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., smiled and bowed their heads as they mingled with the guests at a White House party. The party was held in the crowded chandelier-lit East room.

Good manners kept political feuds out of sight as President and Mrs. Eisenhower entertained last night to honor of Supreme Court justices and other members of the judiciary.

It was the third formal call by members of the high court at the White House within the last month and two of the justices—William O. Douglas and Felix Frankfurter—didn't make the party.

But the rest of the court, led by Chief Justice Earl Warren, outlasted the President and first lady at the reception turned into a grand ball in the crowded chandelier-lit East room.

No sign of the political passions aroused by the Supreme Court justices was in evidence as two of the principals—Clark and Brownell—greeted each other formally. The two men had been in a bitter feud for some time.

China Radio Says U. S. Men to Stay

PANMUNJOM, Dec. 2 (AP)—Red China's Peiping radio hinted today that communist-led American POWs may refuse to go home, saying a semi-peace has been declared in preparation for Christmas celebration.

Peiping radio said a flowery picture of life in the camp, saying all three nationalities live in "utmost harmony" and almost all prisoners took part in games or other activities on Thanksgiving.

It said that the Chinese had said the camp is an area of fear, ruled by a hard hand of communists having almost complete control over the others.

Texas Girl's Steer Takes Show Honor

CHICAGO, Dec. 2 (AP)—An 18-year-old farm girl whose father took a financial beating in the Texas drought is the proud owner of North America's best steer.

But White, Miss Spring, Tex., won the honor Tuesday when her Hereford "Long Star" was judged grand champion steer of the International livestock exposition.

The victory netted her $100,000 check, an air force installation for the year, and a number of prizes.

She is a chance of picking up several thousand more when "Long Star" is sold at auction Thursday.

But, crying with joy after the decision was announced, told everyone she probably will be able to return to the farm next September.

She attended Howard County Junior college in Big Spring for one semester, making the business administration. But she had to discontinue her studies because drought ruined her father's cotton crop.

The reserve grand champion went to Carolyn Oresthouse, 15, of Houston, Tex., whose Aberdeen Angus "Little Stuff" was the top choice in the steer division.

Labor Drafts For Wartime Are Opposed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (U)—Union and management officials have agreed to oppose any form of conscription of labor in wartime, but government agencies are reported still toying with the idea.

Details of the agreement of organized labor and management men are outlined by Al. President George Meany in the AFL's monthly magazine, and were confirmed by government sources familiar with the situation.

Industry Agrees
Many representatives of the National Association of Manufacturers and U. S. Chamber of Commerce have agreed with the AFL, CIO and railroad labor organizations that, in case of all-out war, the government should not have authority to order workers to take particular jobs.

Reports indicated defense department and selective service officials are not sure, however, that many labor requirements in certain industries can be satisfied in the event of war without power to order men to take such jobs.

Matter Decried
The matter is being threatened quite. The labor-management committee's report, marked "restrictions," is being opposed by many of wartime labor conscription. Defense department and selective service views are being aired before a separate group made up of representatives of interested government agencies. Planning is expected ultimately to reconcile any conflicts. The inter-agency group has not yet reported to Fleming, however.

New Safety Device

The Spacometer, invented by Charles Adler, Jr., Baltimore, tells driver how many car lengths it will take to stop at given rates of speed.

"Spacometer" Seen as Curb On Rear-End Car Accidents

BALTIMORE (AP)—When you try to figure out how long it will take you to stop your car at a given speed, what do you do?

Use a slide rule? Memorize the standard figures? Or just step on the brake and hope?

Well, now there's a gadget which can be put right on your dash dial to tell exactly what space you need to stop.

Called a "Spacometer," it's the brainchild of Charles Adler, Jr., widely known Baltimore inventor. He has made it available to everybody by turning his patent rights over to the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission.

The Spacometer works this way: It's actually a speedometer with the usual numerals for miles per hour, and next to them are numbers showing the minimum distances (in car lengths) that a car can be stopped on a dry, hard-surfaced road.

The numerals show that at 20 miles per hour, for instance, it takes four car lengths (4CL on the dial) to stop. It's nine car lengths at 40 miles per hour, and 17 car lengths at 60 miles per hour. The latter is one-tenth of a mile.

Boyle Gives Interesting Bits From His "Oddities Almanac"

mile—at 110 miles per hour it takes you exactly a mile to stop.

The main idea of the new safety device is to avoid rear-end collisions. Safety requires the driver to keep at least the listed number of car lengths behind the vehicle in front.

The safety commission, of which Adler himself is a member, hopes to make the Spacometer available to all car owners in time.

Adler, among other things, invented the blinking lights on airplanes to increase their safety factor. He says his only interest in his latest gadget is to save lives.

"My father was a doctor," says Adler, "and throughout his life he took the position that any medical advance which would save lives should be made universally available.

"I'm trying to do the same thing with my own talents."

Do any almanac readers know of any tested diets for slimming down a Chihuahua?

An engine, even though it has run only a few thousand miles, may no longer deliver the full power it had when new. That's because certain chemical deposits are constantly building up on the spark plugs and in the combustion chamber. They waste power and gasoline in two ways.

In the combustion chamber these deposits become red hot, causing the fuel-air mixture to ignite prematurely. This is called pre-ignition and is the cause of a most severe kind of knock, which engineers describe as "wild ping."

These deposits also build up on spark plugs, causing them to misfire.

You can eliminate this power loss and fuel waste, simply by switching to Shell Premium with TCP, the Shell-discovered additive. Blended into Shell Premium, it accomplishes what no other gasoline additive has been able to do. It preprofs the deposits in the combustion chamber, stopping pre-ignition. It changes the character of the deposits on the spark plugs, prevents short circuits, and stops misfiring.

So quickly does Shell Premium with TCP act, you'll feel your engine has had a tune-up by the time you've finished the second tankful! Since the deposits are constantly accumulating, continued use of Shell Premium with TCP additive is the only way to maintain its benefits.

Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP is the most significant fuel development since the introduction of tetraethyl lead in 1922.

The unique gasoline additive discovered by Shell Research. Trademark owned and patent applied to by Shell Oil Company.

YOUR GUARANTEE

Shell's discovery of TCP additive has given Shell Premium Gasoline the greatest competitive advantage that any gasoline ever had in the history of the petroleum industry.

Shell scientists worked over 5 years to perfect the "know how" essential to the proper use of TCP additive in automotive gasoline. (Originally Shell developed TCP for military aviation.) Only Shell, and its authorized licensee—the Continental Oil Company—have the full knowledge on the proper use of TCP additive. Only Shell Premium Gasoline and Conoco Super Gasoline have TCP.

The trademark TCP is your guarantee that you will get the full benefits of the greatest gasoline development in 31 years.

A chemical additive discovered by Shell (patent applied for):

Gives gasoline remarkable new properties—stops "wild ping" (pre-ignition knock) and spark plug misfiring due to engine deposits.

Gives up to 15% more power; up to 150% increase in spark plug life, plus extra mileage:

Proved by 5 years of Shell research:

The only additive, thoroughly proved, which stops the major cause of power and fuel waste in your car:

Developed by Shell to meet a critical military need:

Solon Warns Of Danger in Island Policy

HONOLULU, T. H., Dec. 3 (AP)—Sen. Milton R. Young said today that the United States doesn't change its policy toward natives in the South Pacific. He will face the same problem as we face with the American Indian.

The South Dakota Republican returned to Honolulu last night after a tour of Pacific islands. He said when he returns to Washington he will recommend that natives on American-held islands be encouraged to strengthen their own economies.

Worse, Not Better

"Our present program is making things worse instead of better," Young said. "If we don't change our program, we will face the same problem with the Pacific natives as we face with the Indians in the United States. They will be almost completely dependent on the government."

Young, who visited American and British Samoa and the Trust Islands and American Samoa, was in worse shape than his British counterpart because the former's economy was for years built largely around the U. S. navy.

Economic Vacuum

"When the navy pulled out it left an economic vacuum which the natives haven't filled with farming and fishing," the senator said. "We are obligated to help them. Young said, 'but I think we should help them only insofar as they are willing to cooperate by helping themselves.'"

Dealers of State Urge Reductions For Auto Output

BOISE, Dec. 3 (AP)—The nation's auto manufacturers were asked Tuesday to cut down production of cars and trucks to ease "an unhealthy condition in the retail market." Idaho Automobile Dealers' association during its 15th annual convention, also called for an end to the "hoarding" practices of used car dealers who raid new car showrooms.

The association declared that auto production "in excess of market absorption causes an unhealthy condition at the retail level." Because of overproduction, new car dealers are being hurt by the "hoarding" of new autos into used car lots, the association said. In other resolutions, the association proposed further study of changes in car loan rates and dealer home laws.

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 3 (AP)—The widow of the American newsmen killed in the Falcon Dam airplane crash will receive an equal share, along with widows of Mexican newsmen, of the $200,000 prize ($25,000) raised by a benefit bazaar.

This was announced by the office of Mexican popular Mexican star known as Cantinflas, who Tuesday night issued checks dividing proceeds of the fight. J. # Drugs Spare Lives of 640,000 Heart Victims in Last Decade

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 3 (AP)—Blood-thinning drugs might have saved 640,000 Americans who died of heart attacks in the last 10 years—10 million every eight minutes, a physician said Wednesday.

The drugs, anticoagulants, help dissolve or prevent blood clots which block the main artery to the heart. Disodium and heparin are main examples.

How they have proved their dramatic life-saving ability was described to the American Medical association by Dr. E. Sterling Nichol, Miami, Fla.

In 10 years, probably eight million Americans have been stricken with heart attacks, he said, adding: "If anticoagulants had been used in all cases, the death rate would have been reduced from 24 to 16 per cent, which means 640,000 lives might have been saved. Actually, less than one-fifth of the cases were treated, but even so at least 100,000 probably have been saved." The drugs can work if given before, or even after some heart attack.

Testimony on Oil Importing Is Conflicting

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—Witnesses at a senate inquiry gave conflicting testimony Tuesday on the effect of foreign oil flowing into the United States, with spokesmen from several companies appearing at odds on the question of continuing imports.

Gov. Allan Shivers, Texas, wrote Chairman Malone, R. Nev., of a senate interior subcommittee that excessive oil imports are damaging the nation's welfare.

The subcommittee is investigating the country's strategic resources for use in the event of war. Shivers said his state is suffering "the dire consequences" of a reduction of more than 400,000 barrels daily in the allowable output of petroleum in the past five months.

A. G. Rubel, vice president of the Union Oil company of California, expressed a similar view. Another witness, H. O. Burks, Jr., New York, a vice president of Esso Standard Oil company, contended there is no evidence that imports have harmed the domestic petroleum industry so far.

On the contrary, Burks argued that domestic oil reserves and production have been "increasing steadily."

Hearing on firm Delayed in Boise

BOISE, Dec. 3 (AP)—Ada county district court has postponed its hearing from Dec. 4 to Dec. 11 on state Insurance Commissioner Leo O'Connell's request to rehabilitate the Guaranty Title company, Boise.

O'Connell contends his action is necessary to protect the financial interests of stockholders, policyholders and the general public. He also claims company directors violated state insurance laws.

Lay That Eclair Down! You Can't Eat Cake, Live Longer

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEW YORK (UPI)—Lay that éclair down, grandpa. If you know what's good for you, and also, give the cold shoulder to candied yams. Holidays are a time to eat, but not to get fat. In short, ladies and gentlemen, keep a stiff upper lip and don't succumb to obesity. Don't get fat as you get old.

According to leading geriatricians, doctors for the aged—the one biggest health problem for older people is overweight. They've calculated a definite and frightening relationship between excess pounds and early graves.

There is, for example, a 75 per cent increase in the mortality rate for people who are more than 25 per cent overweight. The more overweight you are, the poorer your chances of living to a ripe old age.

Doctors list 10 reasons why too much weight can kill you as you grow older:

1. Curtailed life: Impairs vigor; increases fatigability; breaks down the liver; increases surgical risks; hastens onset of complications; increases likelihood of diabetes; complicated with hypertension (high blood pressure); associated with arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries); associated with heart disease.
2. If that doesn't scare you away from the pastry tray, maybe this will: Despite the high state of medical care in the U.S., deaths over 45 years of age occur at a rate 25 per cent higher here than in western Europe. And the difference is attributed to nothing more than a galloping appetite.
3. The problem of old age obesity has nothing to do with financial condition, either. Rich and poor alike can become too fat—too many bottled potatoes are just as fattening as too many crepes Suzette.
4. According to a report by the New York State Joint Legislative Committee on Problems of the Aging, the overweight aged are a definite "public health menace." The report, called "Enriching the Years," only NECHTC does intricate embroidery stitches completely automatic with the Wonder Wheel.

suggests that obesity stems from an emotional disturbance.

It quoted Dr. Edward H. Rynnson, of the Mayo clinic, as saying, "An overweight person is nearly always a compulsive eater who turns to his refrigerator like a compulsive drinker turns to the bottle."

Complicating the problem for many old people are poor food habits. The ones who live alone, for example, often have no incentive to eat sensible meals, and eat fattening rather than wholesome foods. Others have no knowledge of nutrition. In some sections of the country, and in some nationalities, obesity is a sign of distinction with a large paunch becoming a mark of social position.

But science knows better. "Pounds of extra flesh must be paid for by fewer years on this earth," says Dr. C. M. McCay of Cornell University. To avoid those excess pounds, McCay has the following suggestions for good nutrition in the years after 40:

1. Drink plenty of water.
2. Center your diet on milk, fruits, vegetables, bread and whole grains with modest amounts of eggs and meat.
3. Limit your use of sugar, alcohol and excess fat. Use brown sugar and dark molasses.
4. Use fruits such as apples for desserts. Insist that meals afford both milk and coffee, not milk or coffee.
5. Instead of synthetic vitamins, use dry brewer's yeast and wheat germ.
6. Use whole wheat, dark rye or rye-corn breads instead of white bread.
7. If you cannot afford whole or evaporated milk, use skim milk. But the main thing is—keep that appetite under control.

Britain's Special Trust Funds Are Big Headache to Officials

LONDON, Dec. 2 (AP)—A million dollar nest egg is available in Britain to ransom anyone captured by Barbary coast pirates.

And there's a $5,000 fund to build a post house and graveyard in the heart of London, in case plague breaks out.

The Barbary coast pirates went out of business more than 120 years ago and there hasn't been a plague outbreak in London for 300 years.

But the money is still there waiting to be used—together with an estimated $60 million dollars up in 110,000 charities set up by tender-hearted Britons through the centuries.

At least a quarter of these charities are more than 100 years old. Approximately 2,000 of them have annual incomes of less than 75 dollars. Nobody knows how many of their purposes are outdated now.

Funds have been set up to provide funeral undertakers for poor old women and waifs and for poor old men. There's a free coal, bread and cheese to be had for the asking. There are cash grants for out-of-luck tailors, weavers and felt workers.

There's even a fund in the little Letchworth village of Billesdare, dating back to the time of the Spanish armada in 1588 which provides 80 dollars a year to furnish an armed soldier in time of war.

The size of the bequests varies from village charities of a few shillings—made even smaller by rising living costs—to huge millions of pounds like the Purified foundation with an income of $280,000 a year.

Each trust—big or small—is helped with legal safeguards to make sure it is properly administered.

Under British law if the original purpose of a trust is outdated, the courts alone have the power to make a change. Even then the money must go for a purpose as near as possible to the original.

The Barbary pirate trust, for instance, has been out of date since the French drove the pirates from the Algerian coast in 1830. When Henry Smith, rich London merchant, left his money for the redemption of pirate captives, King Charles II was on the throne of England and traders to the Mediterranean were being sold into slavery by the hundreds each year.

The last time the trust was used for its original purpose was in 1827. The trustees got permission to devote the money to supporting hospitals until Britain's medical services were nationalized five years ago. They applied then to have the income given to impoverished clergy men, but the wheel turned full circle when the court directed that a proportion of the money be given to organizations fighting disease in parts of Africa and Arabia.

To sort out the tangle of these trusts the former law minister set up a royal commission three years ago.

For many months the commission tackled the confusion. It recently reported there isn't much that can be done.

McKay Notes Need to Hike Mine Output

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP)—Interior Secretary McKay says indications are the U. S. "must encourage in every way existing and potential production, in spite of the difficulties which now confront us."

He made the statement Tuesday night in a speech to the American Mining Congress.

Urges Cooperation

McKay called for cooperation of the mining industry to provide information on future production needs for a study on balancing supply and demand over a period of future years. The study is one of several undertaken by a committee of cabinet members McKay heads.

He said the committee has instructions "to preserve and safeguard the economic strength developed by recent expansion of domestic mining."

Considers Factors

The matter of imports, he continued, must be considered carefully alongside other national and international objectives even though many domestic mining communities are seriously affected, with mines closed and others ready to close.

International trade in minerals and metals is an important part of our entire foreign economy," McKay said. "It is a vital segment of the nation's entire economy."

The interior secretary said his committee is determined to produce a policy which will aid the domestic mining industry.

Residents Urged to Prepare Christmas Cards, Parcels Carefully to Save Time

"No one is so busy these days as the average housewife," declares W. W. Franke, Twin Falls postmaster. "I doubt if either will have time to think twice about how to prepare Christmas cards and gifts before the first time."

For example, the postmaster has little interest in how pretty gift packages are, the postmaster said. But it is definitely concerned about how well each parcel is wrapped. Franke predicts Christmas mail will be heavier than ever this year. "If gifts are fragile, mark them 'Handle With Care,'" he says. "We'll do our best to protect them."

He suggests mailing packages in corrugated fiberboard containers. Heavy paper and strong cord should be used to wrap the parcels. Christmas seals and stickers should be placed on the back of the parcel so the address remains easily read.

The packages may not be sealed unless the return address and the inscription, "contents, merchandise" may be opened for postal inspection," appears on the package.

Both the sender's address and that of the recipient should be written inside the mailing carton for emergency use. Limits on size and weight vary according to destination.

Now is the best time to buy stamps, according to Franke. Crowds are small, especially before 10 a. m. or between 1:30 and 3:30 p. m. Beginning Dec. 12, all service windows will be open from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m.

For Christmas cards, Franke recommends three-cent stamps be used instead of two-cent stamps. Christmas cards bearing three-cent stamps are sorted and delivered first and are forwarded or returned if necessary.

Delivery of Christmas cards can be speeded up too. Cards should be tied in two separate bundles marked for local delivery or for out-of-town delivery. Tags for such bundles are available at the post office.

Christmas cards going outside the state should be mailed before Dec. 12. Locally addressed cards should be mailed a week before Christmas.

Parcel post requires more time. Out-of-state gifts should be mailed Saturday and local ones by Dec. 10. Franke advises the use of airmail service after these dates, for both gift packages and Christmas cards.

Annual Warning on Yule Tree Danger Is Reported by Scribe

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Christmas tree buying season is almost upon us. And some New Year's day, a lot of people will be burned through carelessness—some of them fatally.

So make some warnings on the kitchen wall. The United States forest products laboratory, a part of the department of agriculture has some helpful suggestions.

If you get a tree early—the good idea, the department says, to keep it standing in water—the longer the better before you haul it below the fireplace. The department also has these recommendations:

Buy a tree that has been cut recently. Slice off the end of the trunk diagonally at least one inch above the original cut end. Stand the tree in a container of water and keep the water level above the cut surface as long as the tree is in the house. If the tree is not to be set up for several days, it should be kept standing in water—in a cool place.

The department says: "If started in time, this treatment not only will prevent the needles from drying out, but also will keep them fresh and green," so they won't catch fire.

The government can supply you booklets about how to treat a Christmas tree chemically once you get it by the fire place. (Just drop a line to U. S. forest products laboratory, Madison, Wis.)

Here are other government suggestions:

When you slack a yule tree in a room, take a look at all electrical connections. There may be an exposed wire, if so, fix it.

Avoid accumulation of combustible decorations on or beneath the tree.

Place the tree so its accidental burning would not ignite curtains or other combustible furnishings.

Attacks Against Businessmen Aid To U. S. Assailed

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP)—Commerce Secretary Weeks spoke out today against "certain critics, who never object to associating with crooks and communists, who are objecting to honorable businessmen serving their country."

Weeks named no names in remarks prepared for the congress of American industry of the National Association of Manufacturers. But he said "a heavy barrage is being thrown right now at businessmen in government."

He declared that the former businessmen serving in the Eisenhower administration are "in Washington solely to put something into good government instead of trying to get something out of bad government."

The commerce secretary said the administration policy is "not the government in control," but "a government in support, ready both in normal times and in emergencies to act for the national welfare and to do whatever is necessary which business enterprise is unable or unwilling to do alone."

New Trial Slated For Test on Will

BOISE, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Idaho supreme court has ordered a new trial to test the will of 86-year-old John S. Landers, Lewiston, who left $77,175 to three children and virtually disinherited a fourth when he died in April, 1940.

The court reversed a lower court order disqualifying the will of Anna Reed, the fourth child. In an opinion written by Justice James W. Porter, the court said, "The record is replete with evidence of weakness, physical and mental condition at the time the will was made."

Lord Cornwallis surrendered to Washington at Yorktown in 1781.

Big Fight Over Soil Service Revision Collapses on Eve of Panel's Hearings

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—The big fight over Agriculture Secretary Benson's revision of the soil conservation act collapsed today just as a congressional committee prepared to hold hearings on the matter.

A house government operations subcommittee headed by Rep. George H. Bender, R. O., will begin hearings tomorrow on the reorganization plan which touched off a public controversy when Benson announced it last month.

Instead of the public airing of complaints which seemed in prospect when Benson's plan was first announced, the subcommittee may end up trying to find out how the law ever got started.

Waters S. Davis, Jr., president of the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts, which sparked all the criticism—now says he is "ready and willing to help make the new plan work."

In a weekly newsletter to "NASC" members, Davis said it is "our big job now" to "help the secretary and his staff make good on their promise of a 'stronger, more dynamic technical agency'."

He also said he has invited Benson to be the chief speaker at the NASCD national convention in February.

The main feature of the reorganization plan, which went into effect Nov. 2, was the abolishment of the seven regional offices of the soil conservation service.

Davis and other leaders, representing 2,500 farmer-organized soil conservation districts, not only got excited about that, but about reports that the plan would turn the conservation service over to the extension service.

Now the NASCD leaders seem reconciled to the loss of the regional offices and willing to take Benson's word that the conservation service will be weakened or turned over to the extension service.

Davis does claim, however, that the NASCD won a "victory" by keeping the proposed plan from going into effect. But Benson maintains the rumors were false from the start.

Word Awaited On Reciprocal Truck Accord

BOISE, Dec. 2 (AP)—State Budget Director Eugene Myers said today he expected to hear from neighboring states within a few days regarding their approval or disapproval of truck reciprocity agreements with Idaho.

Myers said copies of the agreement, worked out in meetings with representatives of the various states, were sent to the representatives Nov. 2.

Myers received a letter from State Sen. Clark Hamilton, D., Washington, asking that the agreement be made public since the new truck registration law goes into effect Jan. 1.

Hamilton said the result of the negotiations should be released "for the benefit of the various states, so they will be affected. He referred to truckers who haul between Idaho and other states.

Law Enforcement Commissioner Wayne Summers said it was too early to say whether an extension of the registration period might be granted.

"Such a blanket extension would mean a considerable loss of revenue," Summers said.

The new truck law substitutes a flat plate fee for the present ton-mile tax in instances where it was passed by the 1933 legislature to facilitate reciprocity agreements between Idaho and other states.

Nebraska Ranch Planned by Stars

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 2 (AP)—Four of the biggest stars in Hollywood have contracted with a Kansas City farm management firm to enter the cattle business in Nebraska.

The stars include Jack Benny, Rosalind Russell, Gregory Peck, and Gene Kelly.

Col. Harold Oppenheimer, president of the firm, said these entertainers were among movie industry people for whom his company is negotiating leases in Nebraska.

Oppenheimer said the stars designed their own brands and registered them with the state.

Basketball Season Wings Into High Gear This Week

It did come off the 1953-54 basketball season in Magic this week-end as area high schools begin their "long drive for state honors. A total of nine games for the week-end will be played Friday and three on Saturday.

The Twin Falls Bruins host the Jerome Tigers Friday in an early season league for both teams. Both squads are reportedly the cream of their respective conference, Jerome in the Big Seven and Twin Falls in the Big Six.

The Bruins will have the advantage of playing for the first time in their new gym. Approximately 2,000 persons are expected to attend the local curtain-raiser. In other games Friday, the Cascade Wolves travel to Valley High to meet the local team. The Wolves, coached by Ed Kelly, are the defending state champions. They will be met by the Cascade Wolves at Valley High. The Wolves, coached by Ed Kelly, are the defending state champions. They will be met by the Cascade Wolves at Valley High.

Most of the schools have three and four games scheduled before Christmas vacation but swing back into action in earnest beginning the first week in January.

Pirates Clip Redskins in Cage Opener
GOODING, Dec. 2—The Hagerman Pirates opened their 1953-54 basketball season Tuesday with a convincing 30-24 win over the Gooding-Edna Redskins.

Bud Palmer was high man for the Pirates with 11 points tallied on four field goals and three free throws.

Jerry Widling, Redskin center, was top point-getter for his club with eight.

The box score for the game was as follows:

Closed Meets Are Held by Minor Leagues
ATLANTA, Dec. 2—The minor league draft will ground out a total of 100 players in the next few days, according to Commissioner Ford Frick and George Trautman, head of the minor league circuit.

Frick, who is most interesting was the Atlanta Braves' general manager. He is a former player and has been in the game for many years.

According to Frick, the new rules of baseball, there were many changes in the rules of the game.

Pioneer League
ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 2—Two players from the Pioneer league baseball team were drafted Tuesday by a pair of minor league clubs.

The No. 1 pick by Syracuse of the International League was pitcher Halder Snyder, now with Elmira, N. Y., of the Eastern league.

Snyder, a right-handed pitcher, was drafted by the Syracuse team. He is a former player and has been in the game for many years.

Larsen Capture Australian Tag Team Grappling
Larsen and Elmer Larsen teamed up to take an Australian tag team match from Tom Martin and George Davis at the Tuesday wrestling matches at Radio Hotel.

Larsen won the match by a technical fall with a 10-minute special event.

In a special event for 20 minutes of one fall, Tom Martin and Larsen battled to a draw.

Bruins Place 3 on All-Star Eleven

BOISE, Dec. 2 (AP)—Nampa and Boise, co-champions of the Big Six, again Wednesday for conference football honors, each taking five positions on the all-star squad picked by coaches for the Associated Press.

Caldwell and Pociello garnered four places each. Twin Falls three and Idaho Falls one on the offensive and defense teams.

Nampa's strength showed on the offensive team, to which four Bruins were named. Three of the Bruins positions were on the defense.

Two teams were picked because the high school, unlike the college, continued to have unlimited substitutions this year. They did not substitute whole teams, but did shift smaller units when the ball changed hands.

Boise was the passer and kicker as well as the quarterback for Nampa. As Haddock goes, so goes Boise, said one coach of the power-running Bruin back, who has won three varsity football letters.

Flowers, top scorer with 54 points, was called "Big Boy" by the opposition. He made 46 points in his Big Six play.

Rounding out the offensive line with Cole and Minshaw are Ernie Reyes, Caldwell and J. D. Stephens. Nampa ends: Gordon Moore, Caldwell, tackle; Bob Mulick, Pociello, guard; and Larry Maupin, Nampa center.

Pociello, the defensive line, is anchored by Smith, Haddock, Bell, Stephens, and Mulick—were on last year's second team, and two—Maupin and Minshaw—were on the first team.

Smith, a converted lineman, was center on last year's second team. David and Dick Webb, Nampa ends, got the strongest support for the defensive backfield; with Wayne Garland, Caldwell, and Red Jynne, Idaho Falls, rounding out that four.

Smith, a converted lineman, was center on last year's second team. David and Dick Webb, Nampa ends, got the strongest support for the defensive backfield; with Wayne Garland, Caldwell, and Red Jynne, Idaho Falls, rounding out that four.

Maryland Edges Notre Dame for Football Crown

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP)—Maryland, rated no better than fifth before the season began, Tuesday held its first national collegiate football championship. The only major eleven to go through the season with a perfect record, the Terrapins from College Park, Md., hoisted out unbeaten but conceded Notre Dame in the first Associated Press ranking poll. The Terps, who finished 12th a year ago in the poll won by Michigan State, wound up with a 10-0 record and a berth in the Orange bowl against fourth-ranked Oklahoma.

Maryland collected 187 first place votes of a record 376 ballots and 3-105 points on the 10, 6, 4, 2, 1 scale. Notre Dame (8-0-1) received 141 first place nominations and 249 points. The Terps had been the pre-season choice to wind up as the No. 1 team.

Behind the first two came: 2, Michigan State, 276; 3, Oklahoma, 2,001; 4, UCLA, 2,007; 5, Rice, 1,588; 6, Illinois, 1,348; 7, Georgia Tech, 1,235; 8, Iowa, 1,176; 9, West Virginia, 1,176.

It was only the second time since the poll was started in 1936, that Maryland was able to make the top 10. In 1941, another 11-winning Maryland squad finished third behind Tennessee and Michigan State. Last year, the Terps had a 7-3 record.

The top ranking gave Jim Tatum's team the O'Donnell trophy, emblem of the college football title. The trophy, donated by the Notre Dame Alumni Association in honor of the late Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, a Notre Dame player who became president of the university, is awarded annually to the No. 1 team in the AP poll.

In sweeping 10 straight games, Maryland piled up 250 points and held its opponents to 31, the lowest total scored against a major team since Penn State yielded 77 in nine games in 1947.

"Great! great! great!" was Tatum's reaction to his team's selection as the nation's best. "This is an honor everybody strives to win," he said at Miami Beach. "We are mighty happy and proud to have it."

Seven of the 10 top teams and 10 of the first 20 will play in bowl games on New Year's day.

POTATO BOWL GAME
BARKERFIELD, Calif., Dec. 3—The Pasadena City college will meet West Coast Coast college, Richmond, Calif., in the Potato bowl game Saturday night.

Cagers Meet
The Magic Valley Basketball league has set a meeting for 7:30 p. m. Thursday at the Chris Line at Main avenue.

A schedule for the coming season will be drawn up at the meeting. Team or player interested in playing in the league are asked to attend.

ELECTION POSTPONED
NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—Because of the New York newspaper strike, the Boxing Writers association Tuesday postponed for at least a week the nomination and election of boxing figures for its three major awards.

New Golf Pro Chosen

Cliff Whittle, left, was named Tuesday as new golf professional at the local municipal links. He succeeds Joe Durgan who resigned last month. Congratulations Whittle on his appointment is Ernest Orsner, city recreational director. (Staff photo—engraving)

Whittle, now the pro at the LaGrande Country club in Oregon, will succeed Joe Durgan, who resigned last month. He will take over at the local course March 1.

Whittle was born in Twin Falls but moved away at the age of 3. He attended high school in Boise and is a graduate of Idaho State College.

He has been pro at the LaGrande club for two years and before that was assistant pro at the Columbia Edgewater Country club. He is a member of the PGA.

The new pro said he is "extremely happy to be back in Twin Falls" and is anxious to get off to a flying start.

He is married and the father of two children.

Ernest Orsner, city recreational director, said a total of 10 people applied for the position at the local course. The field was narrowed to five and those five were interviewed Tuesday.

On the interviewing committee were John Platt, chairman of the city recreation committee; Mrs. F. J. Collier, president of the Ladies Golf Association; Douglas Burke, president of the Men's Golfing association; Joseph Latimore, city manager; and James Sinclair.

Bill Goldfarb, Brundage university fullback, has averaged seven yards per carry in each of his three years. He is a varsity footballer.

Gooding Cage Prospects Poor Coach Reports

GOODING, Dec. 2—Gooding High School's cage prospects are poor, according to Coach Vincent Carter, the Senators coach.

The Senators have only five left-letters from last season's outfit. These include Mort Krush, Larry Butler, Perry Camp, John Klugger, and Don Watkins.

Outstanding prospects reported for the opening practice include Gary Holman, Allen Osborn, Larry Robinson, Larry Leeper, Paul Johnson, Richard Crispin, Richard Wright, Hal Ray Lee, Bob Scanlon, Lonnie Leavitt, John Balle and Nelson Miller.

The Senators open their season Dec. 19 against Shoshone at Rhodons.

The rest of the schedule includes: Dec. 22, Rhodons at Gooding; Dec. 26, Salmon at Salmon; Jan. 2, Pocatello at Pocatello; Jan. 12, Twin Falls at Twin Falls; Jan. 19, Oakley at Oakley; Jan. 26, Buhl at Buhl; Jan. 26, Jerome at Jerome; Jan. 26, Rupert at Rupert; Feb. 13, Pocatello at Pocatello; Feb. 13, Oakley at Oakley; Feb. 13, Buhl at Buhl; Feb. 13, Jerome at Jerome; Feb. 13, Rupert at Rupert.

Ski Meet
The Magic Mountain ski club will meet at 8 p. m. Thursday at the city hall.

Films on skiing will be shown and a report will be given on new conditions on Magic Mountain.

An announcement is expected concerning the opening of the ski lifts on the mountain.

Californian Hits Beshore Ouster
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2 (AP)—Suspension of heavyweight Freddie Beshore by the National Boxing association was challenged Tuesday by a California state athletic commission member.

Brevett Sanders declared, "The NBA has no reason or right to retire Beshore. He is licensed by California and his future comes under the jurisdiction of the California commission."

Referring to Freddie's recent TKO loss to Dan Sutherland in a nationally televised fight, Sanders said that after all Sutherland is a top contender for the world title.

Declo Wins

RUPERT, Dec. 2—The Declo Hornets took three straight to win the basketball honors here Tuesday.

Malla, with one win, one tie and a defeat walked off with second place honors while Paul, with one win and two defeats, was third.

Heburn finished in fourth spot with two defeats and one tie.

Gooding State Coach Sees Lean Season

GOODING, Dec. 2—The Gooding State Redskins will be building from the ground up this season, Coach Thomas Berg reports in discussing prospects for the coming basketball season.

Last year the Redskins won six while losing eight and this year promises to be no better, Berg said.

This year's team should not improve on the 1952-53 showing due to the loss of three of the starting five.

Only four lettermen will be back this season, Berg said. These include Leroy Garman, guard; Jerry Widling, center; Robert McIntosh, forward; and Robert Peterson, guard.

Other prospects include Earl Ooster, forward; Gary Mortenson, forward; Billy Case, center; Cuddy Cunningham, guard; Eugene Jewell, guard; Roger Phillips, guard; and Glen Phillips, forward.

The Redskins opened their season Tuesday against Hagerman.

The rest of the schedule includes: Dec. 8, Bliss at Gooding; Dec. 11, Utah School for Deaf at Gooding; Dec. 15, Utah School for Deaf; Jan. 8, Carey at Gooding; Jan. 15, Glenn Ferry at Glenn Ferry; Jan. 15, Bellevue at Bellevue; Jan. 15, Bellevue at Gooding; Jan. 20, Carey at Carey; Jan. 20, Fairfield at Fairfield; Jan. 26, Richfield at Richfield; Feb. 3, Wendell at Gooding; Feb. 8, Bliss at Richfield; Feb. 8, Fairfield at Gooding; Feb. 18, Richfield at Gooding; Feb. 18, Hagerman at Hagerman.

Dean Attacks Red Demands For Conclave

PANMUNJOM, Korea, Dec. 2 (AP)—U. S. envoy Arthur H. Dean accused the communist leadership of wanting to invite Russia to the Korean peace conference as a neutral so the Soviets can talk the conference to death.

He described as "a built-in filibuster" the red proposal that "neutral" Russian delegates be given unrestricted right to talk without the responsibility to vote or to adhere to decisions of the conference.

Dean renewed his attack on the stubborn communist insistence when the allied and red diplomats met again today after a 24-hour recess. During that time the United Nations studied a communist 15-point proposal for setting up the long-delayed conference.

Dean said he found the red plan to be loaded with booby-traps. "For instance," he said, "the reds proposed a joint communiqué be issued of progress of the conference. That," Dean said, "would allow the communists to censor our side's views."

"Next, Trick."

"Very next," he commented, "in fact, it's the greatest trick of the week. That is, if we should be silly enough to accept it."

Dean said the communist voting proposals were a stacked deck, which could lead the conference to "anagration, uncertainties and impotence."

Today's three-hour session was the longest in more than a week. Out of it, Dean said, came agreement on only two basic aspects of the conference:

1. "That it was to be a political conference of the two sides."

2. "That the two sides were to vote as a unit."

East Fearful, West Hopeful On Prospects

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP)—Western business is at odds with eastern business on the business outlook for 1954.

In many sections of the fast-growing west, businessmen will tell you that 1954 ought to be a pretty good year for us here—if the east doesn't talk itself into a recession.

Many westerners seem reconciled to a moderate dip in business next year, expecting their businessmen to pull in their horns in sympathy with those of the east. In fact, in many western communities a slight downturn is already becoming apparent.

In general, the west is counting on the momentum of its boom to keep it from feeling the full force of any dip that may develop next year in business and industry as a whole.

California Confident

California especially appears to be counting on further growth, and confident that the east's adjustment as Californians call it, will be only a temporary damper on the west coast's boom.

From the east's obsession with creating the worst amuses the westerner.

The first blizzard of the winter season has business pundits pull off a rubbing compared to the deluge of annual forecasts due any day now," says Herbert A. Leggett, chief of the monthly economic report Valley National Bank of Phoenix, which has 34 branches throughout the state.

Cites Trick

And Leggett knows just how the west business pundits pull off the trick of predicting. Here's his formula:

"The absolutely nothing—in several years well-chosen words. Lead with a heavy barrage of statistics. This will confuse everyone, including yourself.

"The trick—if it can't be checked, the prediction will rise or fall 73 per cent next year unless something happens (something always does)."

Caution Need Cited

As becomes a banker, Leggett isn't optimistic about the business future as many of his fellow westerners. He thinks businessmen are quite sure in planning cautiously for the next year. He thinks there will be adjustment, and he thinks it will be healthy.

"As for things in general, Leggett says an economic forecast should contain this: 'Individuals and that people will continue to eat, and have babies throughout 1954.'" ends like a reasonable guess.

(Staff photo-engraving)

Rare White Pekingese Puppies Being Raised by Local Woman

What are believed to be the first white Pekingese puppies bred in Idaho are reported by Mrs. Donald Brown, operator of Pekingese kennels, on Falls avenue east.

They were bred from stock purchased in Montana. The breed is fairly rare but is reported a favorite on the west coast. Most of the animals are imported from England.

True white Pekingese dogs have black eyes and noses, whereas albinos have pink eyes, noses and skin.

"The white Pekingese have an average of four puppies," Mrs. Brown reports she has a home for every white Pekingese she raises. "With such small litters, there is little danger of glutting the Pekingese market," she explains.

Pekingese dogs are usually thought of as fragile, temperamental and pampered house pets. Not necessarily true, declares Mrs. Brown. The breed is actually a hardy one. When acclimated, it develops a heavy, thick coat.

Mrs. Brown first saw a white Pekingese dog at an Omaha dog show several years ago. She immediately took a liking to the breed, but only recently added it to her kennel.

Mrs. Brown has been engaged in the Pekingese business for about 18 years.
